

Video

Go beyond text and theory to see methods in action in this original flagship video collection covering the full research process. Bring your understanding of best practice to life when you watch researchers at work. Examples include a focus group facilitator interacting with participants and using statistics in everyday life.

Use this collection to

- Access tutorials by methods experts, including a complete introduction to statistics course, at any time
- Review methods concepts at your own pace, watching and rewatching as necessary
- Easily embed videos in learning management systems, enlivening courses, both online and in person
